

1. The five Psalms associated with the names of Haggai and Zechariah all begin and end with the words: _____.
2. One of Ezra's ancestors was _____ a high priest in the time of David and Solomon.
3. Zechariah's prediction that "all who pierced Him will look upon him and mourn" is quoted in the New Testament Book of _____.
4. The governor of Samaria who opposed the work of Nehemiah was named _____.
5. Psalm 146, which tells God's people "not to trust in princes who will die", would have been a warning to Zerubbabel not to depend upon _____.
6. The second group of exiles to return from Babylon to Jerusalem was led by _____.
7. The first problem that Ezra addressed after his return to Jerusalem was _____.
8. The Christian belief that Christ will return to the Mt. of Olives is rooted in the Old Testament Book of _____.
9. The extreme remedy proposed by Ezra to solve the greatest problem he encountered in Jerusalem was _____.
10. The phrase used by both Ezra and Nehemiah to express belief in the providence of God is: _____.

1. The five Psalms associated with the names of Haggai and Zechariah all begin and end with the words: “Praise the Lord”.
2. One of Ezra's ancestors was Zadok a high priest in the time of David and Solomon.
3. Zechariah's prediction that “all who pierced Him will look upon him and mourn” is quoted in the New Testament Book of Revelation.
4. The governor of Samaria who opposed the work of Nehemiah was named Sanballat.
5. Psalm 146, which tells God's people “not to trust in princes who will die”, would have been a warning to Zerubbabel not to depend upon Cyrus.
6. The second group of exiles to return from Babylon to Jerusalem was led by Ezra.
7. The first problem that Ezra addressed after his return to Jerusalem was intermarriage.
8. The Christian belief that Christ will return to the Mt. of Olives is rooted in the Old Testament Book of Zechariah.
9. The extreme remedy proposed by Ezra to solve the greatest problem he encountered in Jerusalem was to put away foreign wives.
10. The phrase used by both Ezra and Nehemiah to express belief in the providence of God is: “The gracious hand of God was upon me”.